Keynote: Looking for Leaders in All the Wrong Places

How do you find the best leaders in your organization? It's not about looking for more leaders, but rather by finding the times when your team members already shine as a leaders. Everyone has moments of stepping up depending on the situation. In this talk, we teach your team to learn how to identify when they are stretching their leadership muscles so they can use them with intention.

Keynote: Change Your Thinking. Change Your Life!

If we could avoid change like poison, we would. But that is not an option. This keynote addresses the different ways we encounter change and teaches your audience key skills so they no longer feel like a victim to the changes that are out of their control so they can take the actions needed to create the best outcome.

Keynote: Peek-a-Boo, I can't See You!

Do you know who's really on your team? If you don't know, how will they ever feel heard? Not all diversity is obvious to the eye. I should know, I was in the closet through all of my corporate jobs. This talk opens up awareness to the diversity that could be hiding in your organization's closet. How to be aware and considerate, as we play hide and seek with diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Keynote: Big Struggles, Huge Wins.

It doesn't feel good in the moment, but going through the tough things is what sets you up for the big wins. In this keynote, I use examples from the hardest times in my own life to find lessons of hope for better. Your audience will leave with a sense of appreciation for the adversity they face and feel better equipped to use it to build a better future.

Workshop: The Good, The Bad, and The Awkward!

The key to success is finding balance within ourselves. During this interactive session, we will have a little play time exploring the things that make each of us who we are, and how to find the good that each element contributes to our lives. Even when we might have thought it was bad, or even worse, awkward.

Workshop: Transforming Change for Good.

Change is not always welcome, but all too often, we fall victim to the changes we face. In this interactive workshop you will find a new way to think about change. By changing the way they think, they will change the way they live and perform.

Workshop: I'm Over It. Turning Struggle into Success.

Who said life is supposed to be easy? Struggle is not a word we like to be associated with, especially in our profession. Though this is where your strongest muscles are built. This workshop redefines your teams view of the idea of struggling in a way that will empower them to push through the challenges they face everyday for the best results.
